India is now celebrating Azadi ka Amrit Mahostav. During this incredible journey of Amrit Kaal (Golden Era), India consistently confronted several internal and external problems. India must preserve its unique cultural identity while also maintaining its relevance in the face of shifting global conditions. For a vast nation like India to be united and proceed on the path of growth, it needs a very determined national leader who has a strong belief in his or her countrymen. Narendra Modi was elected as the country's leader with a resounding majority during the period when India had the highest youth population in the entire world. It is difficult to celebrate and commemorate the achievements of a great leader, whose 20 illustrious years of leadership, first as the chief minister and then as the prime minister, have enabled the nation and its people to look beyond a "New India". India is not only a worldwide economic and social powerhouse but a nation led by the ideals of Vasudeva Kutumbakam also a symbol of hope and harmony. We are on the path of transformation now, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi has meticulously established the foundation for it on the principles of inclusivity, empowerment, transparency, reforms, well-being, and democracy. In Indian politics, Narendra Modi's ascent represents a turning point. His impact on the nation has been so great that pre-Modi and post-Modi are distinctly distinguishable eras in terms of political history and governance in India. His popularity is the product of his extensive social, political, and administrative career, which spans many decades of hardwork in multiple fields. Modi's influence extends beyond the borders of India, as he consistently ranks as the most popular world leader in various national and international polls. COVID-19 was seen by PM Modi as an opportunity to promote domestic goods. At that point, he underlined the value of being Atmanirbhar and urged people to speak up for their communities. This was done to help local vendors survive the economic hardship brought on by the pandemic. His position as India's Prime Minister is aptly reflected in these lines said by Martin Luther King Jr.:

“A genuine leader is not a searcher for consensus, but a molder of consensus.”

Modi reached the milestone of 20 years as the leader of a democratic nation in 2021. This book, which is a collection of chapters written by eminent intellectuals and subject matter experts, attempts a comprehensive and in-depth investigation into the fundamental transformation of Gujarat and India over the last 20 years as a result of Modi's distinctive style of governance. Leadership skills at their finest in the 21st century. Narendra Modi has shown what it means to put People and Nation First above all else.
